ANARCHISTS IN PITTSBURG

STILL THREATENING TO KILL ALL HANDS.

Another Railway Disaster.—Gold for Everybody in Redding.—The Switchmen's Turn to Strike.

Special to the APPEAL

Frick in Danger.

Pittsburg, August 13.—The Post to-day publishes a story to the effect that the police have discovered another anarchistic plot to assassinate Frick.

The assassin is Anarchist Aaronstann of New York, who is a close friend of Dergman and Emma Goldman. Aaronstann has been in the city for several days, and it is claimed has been waiting for a favorable opportunity to kill the victim. It is said the plot was hatched out in Vienna, and was given to the New York police by Vice-Consul Eberhardt of Austria. The information was given to Eberhardt by an Austrian, who arrived at New York recently with letters from high police officials at Vienna. The New York police at once notified the Pittsburg authorities, and a close watch for Aaronstann is being kept about all the Anarchist resorts.

Philadelphia, August 12.—William R. Letar, one of the Pinkerton men who was injured at the fight at Homestead, has sued the Pinkertons for $20,000, on the ground that he was deceived into going to Homestead.

Fatal Bridge Accident.

LOGAN, Ohio, Aug. 13.—Last night, about a mile below Logan, on the River division, the span of the bridge fell while a train was crossing, throwing seventeen cars, tank and cab into the river, the front of the engine remained on the bridge. Engineer Uriah Brown was badly injured about the head and will die, fireman Fred Moorehead had his arms broken, Walter Morris was cut on the head and a tramp was killed.

Rich Gold Strike.

REDDING, Cal., Aug. 13.—In the Cleveland claim, a half mile west of the original Tellurium mine, near this city, Peter Scherer, in a shaft eighty feet deep, struck a ledge of immense richness, and four feet wide. A specimen weighing 75 lbs. is now on exhibition at the Shasta County bank. The specimen is covered with gold visible to the naked eye, and is causing great excitement among mining men.

MRS. VADE CLARKE,

One Thing at a Time.

At the encampment this year drilling and field tactics will be taught. Many people have enquired why they don't do their own cooking. This is a very fair question but is easily answered. The number of days in camp is but six, the first will be consumed in organizing and the last day in breaking up. Thus but four days of application to tactical education can be enjoyed.

If too many branches of the service are taught in such a short space of time it will result in a muddle of ideas, none of which will be of much service to the pupil.

Cooking in camp is an art by itself and may be taught next year, but at present it was not considered advisable to spend any time in this branch.

For this reason the contract was let to Gilbert Briggs and the men will be fed by a caterer.

The advantage of this move will be generally observed all over the State when the guards return to their homes with a pretty good understanding of military discipline.

Hadh't Seen Much.

Yesterday afternoon as Washoe Lake Reynolds, Marlette Dempsey and Wolf Creek Bright were standing in front of the Sang mirror admiring themselves, a stranger dropped in and invited the crowd to drink. They all heard him except Reynolds who was thinking quite hard how to deal square fare and seemingly paid no attention to the invitation. Dempsey took soda water Bright an orange cider and the stranger ordered a seven-colored pouce caffè. Suddenly Reynolds got onto himself and while the trio was engaged in the formation of a plan to perpetuate the Christian Endeavor Society, he walked up to the bar and gulped down the pouce caffè, lightly remarking to the stranger: "How do you like the city, that is what you have seen of it?"

"Well," he said "If I don't see any more of the city than I did of that drink, I think to-night's train will take me out of it."

Of course such a play on the part of Reynolds was very coarse and would have no weight with an apology of any kind.

Never Struck a Blow.

The Brady-Meyers fight booked for Virginia City last night didn't come off owing to the lack of cash and a scarcity of preparation on the part of the principals.

The town was red hot for some sort of a scrap but it could not be arranged on any terms. Finally the principals and their backers adjourned to the International and a great many able suggestions were made by everybody who could squeeze in and both men sparred for time.

Brady made a swinging upper cut on a cash play for two weeks from last night, but Meyers countered and got more grace.

The bottle holder, Baldy Goldin pressed the button for three beers, and suggested seven or eight times that a fight be arranged for the Friday evening preceding the Miners' Union picnic, on a basis of 25 per cent of the gate receipts for the loser and 75 for the winner. The contestants then adjourned, and left instructions with the town crier to announce a 15 ounce glove fight for the World's Fair.

The Next Attraction.

The next attraction at the Opera House will be Duncan B. Harrison's Comedy Company in the latest greatest Parisian success, "Little Tippet." The play is a farcical comedy in three acts, and is highly amusing. The cast of the company contains the following celebrated people: Edward Bell, Charles Bowser, Harry J. Morgan, Miss Mabe Burt and Miss Genevieve Tyler. The company is an unusually talented combination, and the play will be bright and enjoyable beyond doubt. The troupe will appear in "Little Tippet" at the Opera House on next Friday, the 19th.
